LEADERSHIP AND DEVELOPMENT

The world needs better leadership. What kind of leader are you and how does your style impact others? What can you do to be a more effective leader?

The Center for Creative Leadership will be providing a week of half day sessions for the students of the Executive MBA Program during the elective week of September 7th, 2009 in Chicago.

The objectives of the session include:
- To explore and gain a common understanding of the term “Leadership”
- Increase self-awareness on personality and preferred styles and how it impacts the way you lead
- Introduce a model for leadership development
- The importance of feedback in development
- Learn and practice a useful model/tool for giving feedback
- Experience an activity that requires leadership and influence
- Enhance self-awareness on effective and ineffective behaviors during conflict and become a more effective leader when managing conflict

The half day workshop sessions over the course of the week is designed for a maximum of 24 participants. Some pre-reading and on-line assessment work will be required, and students are encouraged to sign up by June 15, 2009. Please register with: brad.krillenberger@chicagobooth.edu.

ABOUT THE CENTER FOR CREATIVE LEADERSHIP

The Center for Creative Leadership (CCL®) is a top-ranked, global provider of executive education that develops better leaders through its exclusive focus on leadership education and research.

Founded in 1970 as a non-profit, educational institution, CCL helps clients worldwide cultivate creative leadership - the capacity to achieve more than imagined by thinking and acting beyond boundaries - through an array of programs, products and other services.

Ranked No. 6 worldwide in the 2008 Financial Times executive education survey, CCL is headquartered in Greensboro, N.C., with campuses in Colorado Springs, Colo.; San Diego, Calif.; Brussels, Belgium; and Singapore. Its work is supported by more than 600 faculty members and staff.